JOB SUMMARY

Nimitz Operational Intelligence Center Counterproliferation Division is looking for a GG-0132-13 professional to serve as an Intelligence Analyst. The ideal candidate serves as an intelligence specialist at the GG-13/Band 3 level and provides technical advice on a wide range of complex analysis, evaluation, collection, interpretation, or dissemination of information and/or products relative to an assigned area(s) on commercial maritime counterproliferation issues.

Specific Duties

- Communicates effectively orally and in writing, to include the capability to convey complex operational, technical, and/or political-military concepts; develops and effectively employs multimedia presentations to this end.
- Highly adept at evaluating, interpreting, and integrating all-source intelligence and open source information into top-level assessments.
- Effectively applies extensive knowledge of advanced research methodologies and analytical techniques and/or collection management systems to complex work assignment. Expertly evaluates and integrates all-source intelligence information to produce/contribute to tailored intelligence products in response to customer requirements.
- Draws on board expertise to effectively interact with senior intelligence community/industry/other analysts and/or experts in assigned discipline(s)/focus area(s); coordinates effectively with foreign counterparts. Prepares and produces initiative reports and briefs for executive level audience, such as CNO and Navy staff elements, that demonstrate extensive knowledge and comprehensive analytical expertise; capable of representing command position within area(s) of expertise/focus and of acting as working group or conference chair as necessary at related venues.
- Identifies and/or provides for the resolution of intelligence gaps, prepares or satisfies collection requirements to resolve gaps, evaluates and/or facilitates reporting from collectors in response to requirements, and provides guidance/feedback to field elements that support analytical efforts.
- Possesses broad-based, expert knowledge of assigned discipline/focus area, its customer base, and attendant requirements, and makes effective/innovative use of product line/vehicles available to satisfy requirements.
- Has detailed knowledge of the Intelligence Community (IC) including the interactions and responsibilities of the major components such as DIA, NSA, etc. Has expert level understanding and knowledge of Naval Intelligence's roles and responsibilities both at the National level and within the fleet.
- Has detailed knowledge of the intelligence process sufficient to produce expert level briefings and written products to a wide variety of high level audiences. Has full performance level knowledge of intelligence collection, collation, research, and production and their respect roles in Service level intelligence. Has knowledge related to security requirements especially those related to working with ADP systems within a SCIF space.

- Provide specialized maritime analysis and finished intelligence production focused on maritime proliferation activity occurring worldwide in support of the interagency intelligence community, United States government agencies, Regional COCOMs, Fleet customers, and select country teams and other customers, as appropriate.
- Improve alignment of intelligence collection to analytic production and customer requirements on commercial maritime related counterproliferation issues worldwide.
- Maintains liaison with personnel in other intelligence agencies, laboratories, services, and allied foreign governments to discuss production requirements and provide information. Serves as the activity representative at interagency and international meetings and conferences. Presents and defends activity positions or issues in his/her area(s) of expertise. May serve as Chairperson of working groups or committees at interagency and intra-agency forums and international conferences
- In accordance with ONI's mission, support customer priorities and intelligence requirements in AOR and team's customer engagement effort. Customers include those in the US Navy, Department of Defense, law enforcement, intelligence community, and other US government agencies.
- As required, serves as team leader for his/her assigned area(s). Coordinates the work of the team, establishes priorities, guides team members and is responsible for accuracy and completeness of the team products.
